

Eastern Redbud

Known as the harbinger of spring, the Eastern Redbud bursts to life with delicate blossoms and buds that create one of the season's most breathtaking displays. Yet, its beauty extends well beyond its floral show. The tree's distinctive branching pattern, often dividing near the ground, forms a graceful, spreading, and sometimes flat-topped crown. Even in winter, the Redbud's silhouette remains striking. This elegant species adds year-round charm and sophistication to any landscape.

Shape –
Rounded

Foliage -
Medium Green

Fall Color -
Yellow-Gold

Flower – Pink to
Lavender Blossoms